

A Message from the Virginia Coalition for the Prevention of Elder Abuse:

A Conference Update RE: COVID – 19

The VCPEA conference committee would like to thank you for your patience and understanding with our need to reschedule the 26th Annual VCPEA Conference at the Kingsmill Resort in Williamsburg.

As we stated before, the safety of our attendees, sponsors and speakers is paramount. We are excited to inform you that we have reached an agreement with the Kingsmill and thank them for their tremendous support. The conference has been rescheduled for August 26th, 27th and 28th of 2020 with workshops starting at 2:00 pm on the 26th and ending with our closing session at 12:30 on the 28th. We are thrilled that our opening and closing speakers were able to make the change and will be joining us with an agenda that will have minimal changes.

We will work to stay on top of any recommendations from federal, state and local government and we will inform you of any future changes based once again on safety as our highest priority.

We are asking any of you who might have made room reservations for May to cancel those and rebook for the new conference dates. The deadline for making a room reservation at the conference rate for the new dates will be August 4th, 2020.

All scholarship awards will remain the same. Please email us at info@vcpea.org if you are not able to take advantage of the award with the new dates.

Please note that if you are registered for the conference and can attend in August, your current ticket will be honored. If it's not feasible for you to attend this summer, you will be issued a full refund. To make a refund request, please follow the steps outlined here (scroll down and skip to step #2).

Once again, stay safe. If you have any questions regarding the conference you can reach us at info@vcpea.org. Look forward to seeing you August 26th!

Sincerely,
Susan Umidi
VCPEA President
